100-word biography/profile presentation

Eli Nunez joined DXC in June 2016 as Associate Professional Programmer Analyst for the Custom Application Services department. Since June 2016 he works as Associate Professional Programmer Analyst for Puerto Rico's Delivery Center. His role consists in building and deploying custom applications, tools and processes for P&W and UTAS accounts.

Before joining DXC Eli worked in a mid-sized company as a technical support specialist and promoter, specializing in Samsung's mobile phone products, applications and Android based OS (Touch Wiz). Also, an extension of his functions took place, serving as a trainer and offering workshops and tutorials on Samsung's multiple products, latest exclusive software applications, and mobile functions.
